Our experiences in working with College Bound Selection Service, CBSS, have been so positive we have decided to expand our contracts with them to help us reach other markets. I have found the representatives professional and helpful. They know what is happening in the world of enrollment management and higher education and can partner with you to offer a total solutions strategy.

CBSS has helped us by asking specific questions and working to understand our enrollment goals. Then using this information and taking their past experiences they help us to develop a package that will be customized appropriate and produce maximum results.

Everyone I have met, and worked with, has been responsive to our needs. I feel like my primary contact, Clayton Allen, really cares about Benedictine University. Clayton provides exceptional service with an enthusiastic attitude.

Despite the many options we have I am confident we will continue to work with CBSS.
