College Bound Selection Service
Clayton Allan
118 Congress Street

To Whom It May Concern:

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln has utilized CBSS for the last several years to purchase the names and contact information for International Baccalaureate students. While there are many services to provide access to prospective student information, we have found CBSS to be one of the few able to provide us with the information we need to successfully recruit this highly-sought after population.

The service that Clayton Allan provides is second to none in the student services field, he is prompt to respond to questions and proactive in suggesting new ways to use the data that CBSS delivers. In addition to being a friendly and approachable sales representative, he represents the company and the services it offers colleges in a very professional manner.

I would recommend both Clayton and CBSS to anyone in the business of college student recruitment.

Sincerely,

David Burge
